

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A camera system that includes a video camera and a processor, which periodically uploads images captured by the video camera to a web server in accordance with one of a plurality of motion detection algorithms. A first motion
5 detection algorithm captures a current image frame when a pixel comparison between successive image frames exceeds a predetermined threshold.